

Dear guests,

Over 15 years ago, I was enchanted by the deep-blue Lake Altaussee with its views of the Loser and the Dachstein Glacier. The uniqueness of the landscape and the warmth of the people of Altaussee drew me here – and have never let me leave.

Stern & Hafferl: a family business - tradition and innovation since 1883

As early as 1883, our forefathers, Josef Stern and Franz Hafferl, were pioneers in the fields of energy and transport. Alongside numerous railway lines, such as the Salzkammergut Local Railway between Salzburg and Bad Ischl, they also built the Schafberg Railway and co-founded what is now Energie AG. Another milestone was the launch of an electric boat service on Lake Attersee in 1913. Almost 100 years later, we have succeeded in continuing this tradition of sustainability on Lake Altaussee with Austria's first solar-powered boat. Today, our family-run business, the Stern Group,

CHARTER A SOLAR-POWERED SHIP AND CELEBRATE!

THE SOLARSHIP “ALTAUSSEE”

Austria's first solar-powered passenger ship

Built in 1997 at the SUEK shipyard in Korneuburg, the aluminium catamaran offers 54 seats in the saloon, 30 on the open deck, and approximately 16 on the aft deck.

DID YOU KNOW...

that the solar-powered ship played a "supporting role" in the production of the James Bond film Spectre? It was converted into a director's stage for Sam Mendes, the film's director, for two days.

Key facts:
Length: 25 m	1 Generator 11 kW
Width: 4.20 m	35 m² solar panels
Draft: 0.65 m	15 LiFePo4 battery blocks,
Propulsion: 2 x 7.5 kW + 1 x 11 kW total capacity 75 kWh

This is how it works:

The ship's photovoltaic cells capture the sun's rays. Electrical energy is generated via these panels and stored in batteries. This energy can then be drawn from the batteries, enabling the ship to operate even on cloudy days.
